

CAUTHE Fellows Award

(15 October 2021)

Preamble

In order to recognise the contributions made by Australian and/or New Zealand based academics, the Fellows of CAUTHE have introduced two annual CAUTHE Fellows Awards. These awards will be given to the Australian or New Zealand nominees who have made the greatest contributions to research and education respectively within the tourism, hospitality and/or events context.

Titles of awards

- CAUTHE Fellows Award for Research
- CAUTHE Fellows Award for Education

Type of award

- Certificate

Purpose

- To recognise Australian and New Zealand based academics who have made a significant contribution to research and education respectively in the tourism, hospitality and/or events context.

Number of awards per year

- Up to one in each category (research and education) per year

Eligibility

- Academics at Levels up to and including Senior Lecturer who are currently working in an Australian or New Zealand institution and who have worked in Australia or New Zealand for a minimum of three years preceding the granting of the Award.
- Academics nominated for the Award must have attended at least one CAUTHE Conference.
- CAUTHE Fellows and members of the CAUTHE Executive during the year the award is granted are ineligible.

Research Award Criteria

- A substantial overall contribution to tourism, hospitality and/or events research.
- Evidence of contributions to tourism, hospitality and/or events research may include:
 - The impacts of the candidate's research on tourism, hospitality or events theory and practice
 - Citations or reviews of the candidate's research internationally
 - External recognition of the quality of research in the form of prizes, awards or fellowships
 - Speaking invitations at high profile and recognized academic and industry forums

- Research grants
- Engagement with industry through the conduct of research activities
- Invitations to join journal editorial boards
- Reviewer contributions to journals and conferences.

Education Award Criteria

- A substantial overall contribution to tourism, hospitality and/or events education.
- Evidence of contributions to tourism, hospitality and/or events education may include:
 - Advances to pedagogy
 - The development of creative or innovative scholarship through knowledge creation, sharing and dissemination
 - Research grants received for the development of education programs
 - Awards for teaching excellence.

Selection Process

- A call is made each October to Heads of relevant academic departments or groups in all CAUTHE chapter member institutions to encourage nominations for this award
- Nominations may come from Heads of relevant academic departments or groups at any CAUTHE chapter member institution
- Any CAUTHE Associate Member at Senior Lecturer Level or above may make a nomination
- Those who have been nominated for the award should complete a short nomination form detailing his/her contributions to research or education within a tourism, hospitality and/or events context depending on the category of award. The nomination form should be accompanied by a CV.
- Fellows will rate each award nominee on the basis of their completed nomination form and CV.
- The most highly rated nominee in each category will be eligible for the applicable award.
- Whilst an academic may be nominated for both categories of award, s/he may only win the award in a single category in any given year.
- Fellows reserve the right to make no award in either category in any year.

The award winners will be notified prior to the CAUTHE conference so that they may plan their attendance to receive the award.

Presentation

- To be presented at the CAUTHE conference awards ceremony.
