

CAUTHE 2025 Teaching and Learning SIG meeting

Wednesday 12 February 16:00 - 17:30 (AEST)

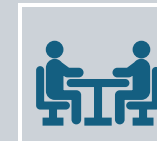

Hosted by Anastasia (Yeark) Fomina, Dr Niki Macionis & Dr Aaron Tham, Co-chairs, Teaching and Learning SIG.

Elizabeth Dominguez, KBS Integrity Officer and Hospitality/Tourism Facilitator, will follow up on our mid-year presentation on inclusive pedagogy. She will focus on how non-inclusive teaching practices, such as poorly designed curricula and assessments, can unintentionally alienate students, leading to disengagement and increasing the risk of academic misconduct. This presentation will provide practical insights into the "critical points of no return," where students often veer off course and explore how inclusive pedagogical strategies can address these challenges. The session will run for 20 mins, followed by an interactive Q&A segment.

Chris Wong, KBS Hospitality/Tourism Facilitator, will provide an update on the scenario generator we showcased at the last CAUTHE conference in Tasmania. This update will feature destination videos created using GenAI. The session is planned for 20 mins, followed by a Q&A segment.

After the presentations and their respective Q&A sessions, we will dedicate any remaining time to a collaborative discussion on teaching challenges and possible solutions that may have emerged in the post-pandemic classroom. The evening will conclude with a social dinner gathering.
